

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, March 20. 1706.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 9.

Warsaw, February 23.

THE 18.h Instant in the Morning King Augustus set out from hence, accompanied by several Senators, and took his Way towards Lowitz, whither he order'd the Provisions furnish'd by the Palatinats of Mazovia, Ploczko, Lancizia, and Sinadia, to be carried. Before his Departure, his Majesty receiv'd an Account of the Defeat of his Army under General Schulenbourg by the Swedes commanded by General Reinschild at Fraustad. His Majesty thereupon dispatch'd several Expresses with Orders to his Saxon Troops that escap'd out of that Battle, to Mazeppa General of the Cossacks, and to the Muscovite Army encamp'd near Grodno. We have Advice from Grodno, that the King of Sweden had resolv'd in a Council of War to attack the Muscovites in their Innochments; and that in Order thereto some Regiments of Swedes were advanc'd within 2 Miles of Grodno, waiting the coming up of the rest of the Army.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 9.

Dresden, March 3. The last Letters from Warsaw advise, that the King of Poland having receiv'd the bad News of the Defeat of his Troops commaded by General Schulenbourg near Frauenstad, was march'd with most of his Detachment towards Lowitz; leaving a certain Number of Muscovites to guard the City and Castle of Warsaw. 'Tis reported his Majesty designs to endeavour to re-establish the Body of Infantry that were beaten at Frauenstad, and of whom about 2 thirds were kill'd: And that in order thereto he has dispatch'd several Couriers, particularly one to Cassel, to take into his Service some new Troops of Forreigners. In the mean time the Horse, who did not lose 50 Men in the said Battle, begin to return to their Quarters. The King is extremely displeas'd with those who did not do their Duty in that Action, and 'tis said his Majesty will cause them to be tried by a Court-Martial. The Swedes were very cruel to the brave Muscovites, who having long defended themselves valiantly, even after they were abandon'd by the Saxons, at last threw down their Arms and begg'd Quarter; but the Swedes massacred them without Mercy; and several of them having retir'd into some Houses, the Swedes set those Houses on Fire, and put to the Sword those who ran out to avoid burning. Lieutenant General Wustromirski, who is a very able Officer, is at great Glogau, and as soon as he is cur'd of his Wounds is to render himself Prisoner of War at Stockholm, whither the Swedes have sent most of our Foot Officers that they took Prisoners.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 11.

Berlin, March 3. By Letters from Poland we are inform'd, that the King of Sweden with his Army has block'd up Grodno; and that his Majesty has by a Placare forbid the Boors of the neighbouring Country to carry any Provisions into it, on Pain of Death. The Reinforcements which the Muscovites expect from their own Country, are reported to be advanc'd near to Grodno.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 16.

Warsaw, March 2. The Muscovites which King Augustus left in Garrison here, hold themselves ready to march upon the first Notice from his Majesty. We have Advice, that the 24th of last Month his Majesty march'd from Lowitz for Pietrecow, where he design'd to stay for General Schulenbourg, whom he had sent for from Saxony. We have also Advice, that the Armies of the King of Sweden and of the Czar of Muscovy in the Neighbourhood of Grodno, suffer very much for Want of Provisions.

Dantzick, March 6. Advice is come hither, that the King of Sweden has been oblig'd to retire with his Army 10 Leagues from Grodno, for Want of Forrage. The last Letters from Moscow, say the Czar set out from thence towards the End of January, to return to his Army at Grodno. Letters from Poland tell us, That King Augustus was at Pietrecow the 28th of February; and that he had with him a considerable Body of Troops, with which he design'd to venture an Engagement with General Reinschild; and had determin'd to give the Command of the Right Wing to General Schulenbourg, the Left to General Braussen, and the main Body to General Fleming, and to head the Body of Reserve himself. The Starost Smigielski having been some Days in pursuit of 450 Recruits rais'd for King Stanislaus by M. Truckses, at length overtook them within 3 Leagues of Stargard in the Polish Prussia, and made them all Prisoners of War.

From the Harlem Courant, dated March 20.

Dantzick, March 10. 'Tis confirm'd, that M. Smigielski, whom King Augustus has made Waywood of Posen, having fallen upon 600 Men that M. Truckses had rais'd for King Stanislaus, in the Polish Prussia, kill'd 200 of them and made the rest Prisoners, of which some have taken Service under him. The 7th Instant he came within a Mile of this City, and in his Way took some wedish Officers; as also the Starost Gembirsky, who is a Person notoriously disaffected to King Augustus, and has sent him to Saxony. 'Tis talk'd, that when M. Smigielski has receiv'd some Contributions which he has demanded in the Polish Prussia, he will march from these Parts to joyn King Augustus, who was at Wolbers near Pietrecow the 2d of this Month, but 'tis said design'd to go towards Cracow: His Majesty is forming a new Army; to augment which, Velt-Marshal Ogiby has detach'd from Grodno 5000 Muscovite Dragoons, he being able to spare them and yet to maintain his Camp against all Attempts of the Swedes.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 9.

Letters from Berlin of the 2d of March advise, that it had been resolv'd in a Council of War, to countermand the Troops that had been order'd the 2d of February to march to Prussia: And 'tis reported as certain, that of those Troops 8 Battallions will be sent to serve the ensuing Campaign on the Rhine or the Maese, viz. the 3 Battallions of the Prince Royal, 2 of Dhona, 1 of Denhoff, 1 of Lortum, and 1 of Holstein: To which will be joyn'd 2 Battallions of the Guards that are at Berlin. 'Tis not yet said who who will have the Command of this Detachment. There is still a strong Body of Forces on the Frontiers of Prussia, besides the Militia of the Country, which are often exercis'd to make them serviceable upon Occasion.
